

Toronto Star – January 3, 2023

Canada sets immigration record in 2022 with 430,000 new permanent residents

The previous record was set in 2021 when the country welcomed more than 405,000 newcomers.

By Kieran Leavitt Staff Reporter
Tue., Jan. 3, 2023 1 min. read

The federal government settled 431,645 new permanent residents in 2022, blowing past the previous all-time record set in 2021.

It's one signal that the federal government appears on track to carry out its immigration plan. Next year, the government hopes to bring in another 485,000 new permanent residents.