Date: July 11th, 2024

Legacy Investment Mutual Fund Trust proudly presents the second installment of 'Building Our Legacy - Discover the Private Capital Market (Part 2),' featuring Art Smith, VP of Corporate Development at Legacy Investment, and Peter Jarman, Chief Operating Officer at Axxess Capital Advisors and a member of the Board of Trustees at Legacy Investment. Art and Peter continue to explore the landscape of the private capital market, where significant opportunities and stability await. This market surpasses public markets, driven by individual investors forming private companies. It offers unique investment approaches and consistent capital formation.

In Canada, the private capital market is substantial and well-regulated, attracting companies with its stability and potential for profit. Increased regulatory awareness enhances transparency and clarity, protecting investors from market volatility and supporting true asset valuation. Canada's regulatory framework allows nationwide participation, ensuring investor protection, fairness, and transparency. The private capital market offers a stable, profitable, and cost-effective investment landscape, presenting a compelling alternative to traditional investments.
